

Knight

Be Brave and Honest

Knight

Be Brave and Honest

Message

Do the right thing, even if it isn't the easiest option. Stand for what you know to be right and true.

About

The Knight is a knight in shining armour, dedicated to the crown that his sword defends. In this sense, he is a protector of the Holy Grail and therefore of your spiritual growth and expansion. He represents the warrior in you – whether you are male or female, that energy is within you. His sword and armour show he is courageous and strong, but if you look closely you will see he has a tear running down his face, showing his willingness to be vulnerable and his love for what he protects.

Extended Message

The energy of respect is important right now. You are being encouraged to figure out what is important to you and what you stand for. If you are in a space where there's opposition, you are being guided to follow through with integrity, because even if it seems this will slow your progress, your rewards will be much more abundant. You are being surrounded by a light of bravery to help you.

This card also brings justice. If you are longing for justice, please know that the universal energies are working to bring everything back into order and that you don't need to force anything through with your will. If you have made any mistakes recently, it's important to take ownership of them so that you can align yourself with improving the situation. If you are feeling the need to defend your spiritual path at this time, back down and let it protect you.